WORLD PREMIERE of Yuanfan Yang - Spring Blossoms on a Moonlit River (春江花月夜)

20:30

August 25, 2017

Yuanfan's new piece for two pianos Spring Blossoms on a Moonlit River (春江花月夜) will be premiered by pianists Xinning Zhang and Bing Bing Li at the Stoller Hall, Chetham's School of Music, Manchester, UK as part of the Chetham's International Piano Summer School & Festival.

'Spring Blossoms on a Moonlit River'

- this piece is arranged from a well-known classical Chinese music composition for the pipa (a Chinese guitar), which includes only notes from the pentatonic scale. The original piece is generally very relaxed, portraying a sense of calmness, serenity and beauty. In my adaptation, this still remains the primary goal, but the experimentation with my harmonic language, styles, textures and the use of instrumentation allowed me to make a musical expansion into something more substantial, which was the aesthetic goal for me, rather than just providing a simple transcription. The original piece consists of ten sections, of which the holistic style from the beginning to the end is consistently unvarying. I also use ten sections in my piece, but each section is of a slightly different musical character and stylistic colour.

"The DCT was launched in September 2015 and aims to financially support and artistically nurture exceptionally talented classical musicians whose financial situations pose restrictions upon their studies and career.

Our very first auditions took place in the autumn of 2015 following a rigorous review process of over 200 applications submitted by students of the London music colleges. The high level of musicianship, technical command and professional commitment of the auditionees was truly gratifying to witness. In line with the ethos and mission of the Trust, we awarded scholarships to those musicians who we felt were the most exceptional and distinctive in terms of their performance, musical personality and artistic standing and potential. I am proud for our select group of sixteen musicians for 2015-16, a group that is defined by musical integrity and a common pursuit for the realisation of the highest artistic values.

This highly esteemed event celebrates not only our Scholars' exquisite talent but also the uncompromising standards which the Drake Calleja Trust stands for and the difference we are committed in making as an organisation in classical music." Vicky Yannoula, Programme Manager
